This federation style mansion was built in 1913 as a retreat for a leading Sydney retailer, Sir Reginald Marcus Clarke. Coleman & Fairburn completed significant restoration and repair of the heritage listed Mt Wilga homestead.

The work included replacement of roof tiles and timber shingles, repair to settlement of verandah stone work, relaying a tessellated tile porch, repairs to timber windows and stained glass, fabrication of new fire place mantles and surrounds from historic photographs, re-painting, demolition and restoration of past alterations by previous owners and tenants, general repair and maintenance.
