Coleman & Fairburn was subcontracted to provide some of the detailed joinery for the refurbishment of this historic building. The new Dining Area required new servery and bar counters, together with slatted ceiling & wall linings. The fabrication of the counters was complicated by the requirement for diffused 'back-lighting' concealed behind the polished timber slats. The shelving to the rear of the bar had to be supported on concealed steel framing. Historic fireplaces required new surrounds to accommodate concealed air conditioning ductwork.
