Coleman & Fairburn's own Joinery Shop fabricated four polished timber fire place surrounds and mantles for the Mount Wilga residence.

This heritage home (originally built in 1913 by the Marcus Clarke family) had the fire place mantels and surround stolen and removed over time. The new owner undertook to restore the house. Four polished timber fire place surrounds and mantles were required. Coleman & Fairburn skilled craftsmen carefully fabricated the joinery from historic photographs and drawings. This joinery involved both turned and carved ornamental work with bevelled mirrors and glass.

This joinery work was completed in conjunction with other major building repairs by Coleman & Fairburn.
